Pune, Mar 26 (UNI) Tech start-up Della Leaders Club, the world's first technology-enabled business platform, on Saturday announced the launch of DLC Intellect Pop-Up in Pune, the Silicon Valley of India. DLC is the brainchild of Jimmy Mistry, a first-generation serial entrepreneur who has innovated 'The World's first Business Platform' to offer a 360-degree support system for transformative leaders by-invitation-only membership to the world's most influential community. Della Leaders Club is a global community of entrepreneurs, professionals and young leaders launched across seven countries and 15 chapter cities, a press release said. Within a short span of 18 months, DLC has managed to gather and sign-up some of the most eminent men and women across the world. Today, it stands tall with over 2,300 plus members from across 56 countries.

DLC, the technology-enabled business and lifestyle content platform, is headquartered in New York and was launched on June 12 2021, at the hands of Union Minister of Road Transport Nitin Gadkari and Maharashtra Environment Minister Aaditya Thackeray, release added. UNI SP SS 2322
